The Case for Support

The Parenting PATH (formerly Stokes SCAN) provides a variety of programs to prevent and treat child abuse and neglect.

Children aged 0-3 living in Stokes County are 52% more likely to be abused than other children in North Carolina.*

Children aged 4-5 living in Stokes County are 151% more likely to be abused than other children in North Carolina.*

The Parenting PATH is raising funds to provide additional services to families in Stokes County. All funds raised will go to serving local families.

These funds will assist us in creating an additional position that will serve 30 families each year, working with them in home, providing family support and counseling, teaching parenting skills and keeping Stokes County children safe.

The Parenting PATH works with Stokes County Health Department and Stokes Department of Social Services to identify and serve local families.
